No. 1 10261 Prado Woods Drive

Duane & Joan Swearingen have been Villa Park residents for six years. They are the parents of three children - Lisa, 14; Scott, 11; and Lori, 7.

Duane is a police officer, and the owner of Rent-a-Tux (mens formal wear shops) in Orange and Los Angeles Counties. Joan is very involved in this business also.

The Swearingens are all avid baseball fans and enjoy collecting antiques. Their lovely home, which is adorned with antique mirrors and a large collection of other antiques, has been decorated entirely by Joan. The colors she has chosen to use throughout are yellow, gold and rust.

No. 2 18262 Sharon Lane

The beautiful french regency home of Joe & Verna Itson is as enormous and charming as it looks from the outside. Not only are all of the rooms spacious, but there are 4,200 square feet throughout.

The Itson's have lived in Villa Park for 15 years, and in this new home a year and a half. Joe is a Sea Captain with the Union Oil Company, and loves to play golf. Verna is a busy homemaker whose hobbies include oil painting and gardening.

There are two boys in the Itson family - Steven, 25 and Woody, 15. The entire family share a love of snow skiing. Some of the outstanding features of this magnificent home are the stained glass windows across the front of the house, the massive entry with the spiral stairway and the lovely hardwood floors.

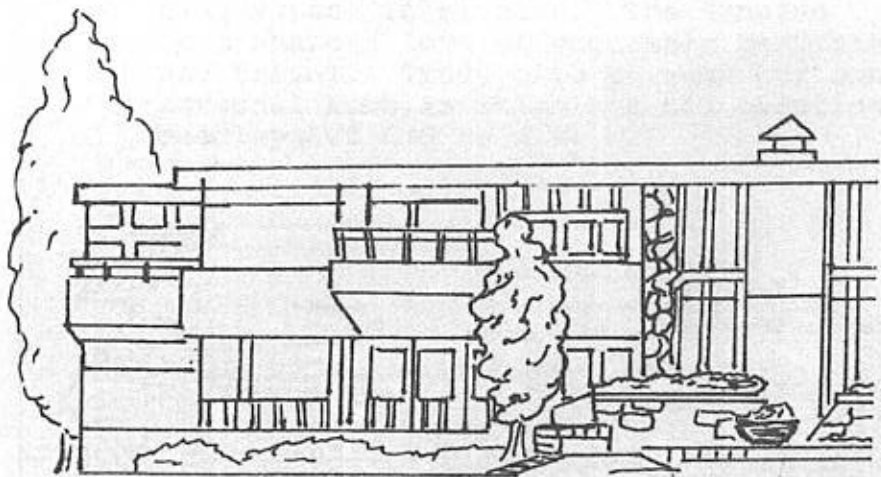

No. 3 18001 Bryn Mar Lane

The contemporary, ultra-modern home of Mr. & Mrs. John Holmes is beautifully decorated with chrome and glass. The colors used throughout are brown, rust and camel.

John is a building contractor and the owner of the Shale Lumber Company in Orange. Carolyn in addition to her many duties as homemaker is President of The Nightengales. This is the Jr. Auxiliary of the Long Beach Memorial Childrens Hospital.

The Holmes children are - Tammy, 20; and Jennifer, 11½. To mention a few of the many interesting features within this stunning home, would be the sunken conversational pit, the sunken bathtub in the master bedroom, and the graphics in the game room which completely surround the room, even through the blinds.

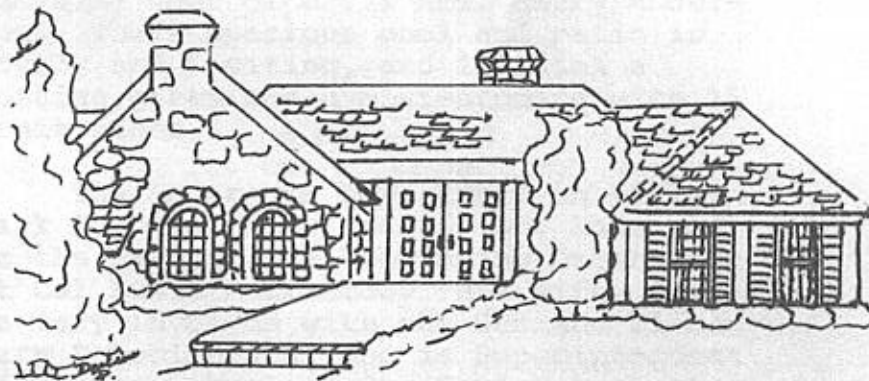

No. 4 9842 Ludwig St.

Herbert & Marilee Scott have lived in Villa Park for nine years and in their present home three years. They have a family of three children - Randy, 16; Monilee, 13; and Eric, 12.

In addition to the children's many activities in sports, the family loves to snow and water ski. Herbert is employed as Sales Manager of Texas Instruments, and Marilee teaches Kindergarten at Linda Vista Elementary School in Orange.

The exterior of their lovely home is enhanced with bouquet canyon stone, which is used throughout the pool and patio area, and adorns the family room fireplace.

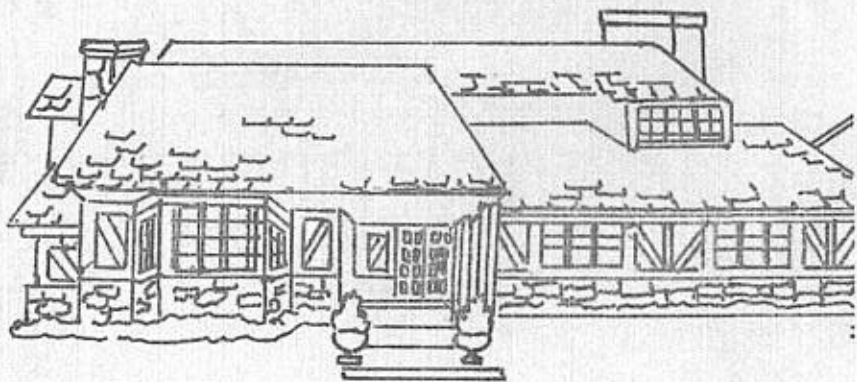

No. 5 18941 Canyon Circle

The beautiful english tudor home of Bill & Trudy Hansen is only 1½ years old. Some of its outstanding features are the antiques, the fine porcelain pieces, the circular stairway, the bronzes, including a Rodin, and the rare Grand Sonnerie' clock in the entry. Outdoors they have a full tennis court, a putting green and a fish pond. Trudy has decorated her home with the assistance of Audrey Gustafson of Villa Interiors. The indoor plant display is being provided by "The Plant Connection" of Ontario.

Trudy is an established real estate broker with her own firm, Trudy Hansen Real Estate. Bill is a very successful physician practicing in the City of Westminster. His interests include earth moving and land development.

The Hansens have lived in Villa Park for nine years and have four children. Three are away at college, and 13 year old, Susan, is at home. The Hansens both share a love of vegetable gardening and travel. Trudy also pursues her own personal hobbies which are oil painting, needlepoint and tennis.

Tea Garden

9632 Christine Circle

Our Tea Garden is being held at the charming home of Dr. & Mrs. Henry Anderson. Their spacious pool and patio is lovely and inviting, and includes a putting green and a mini-orchard with 15 fruit trees.

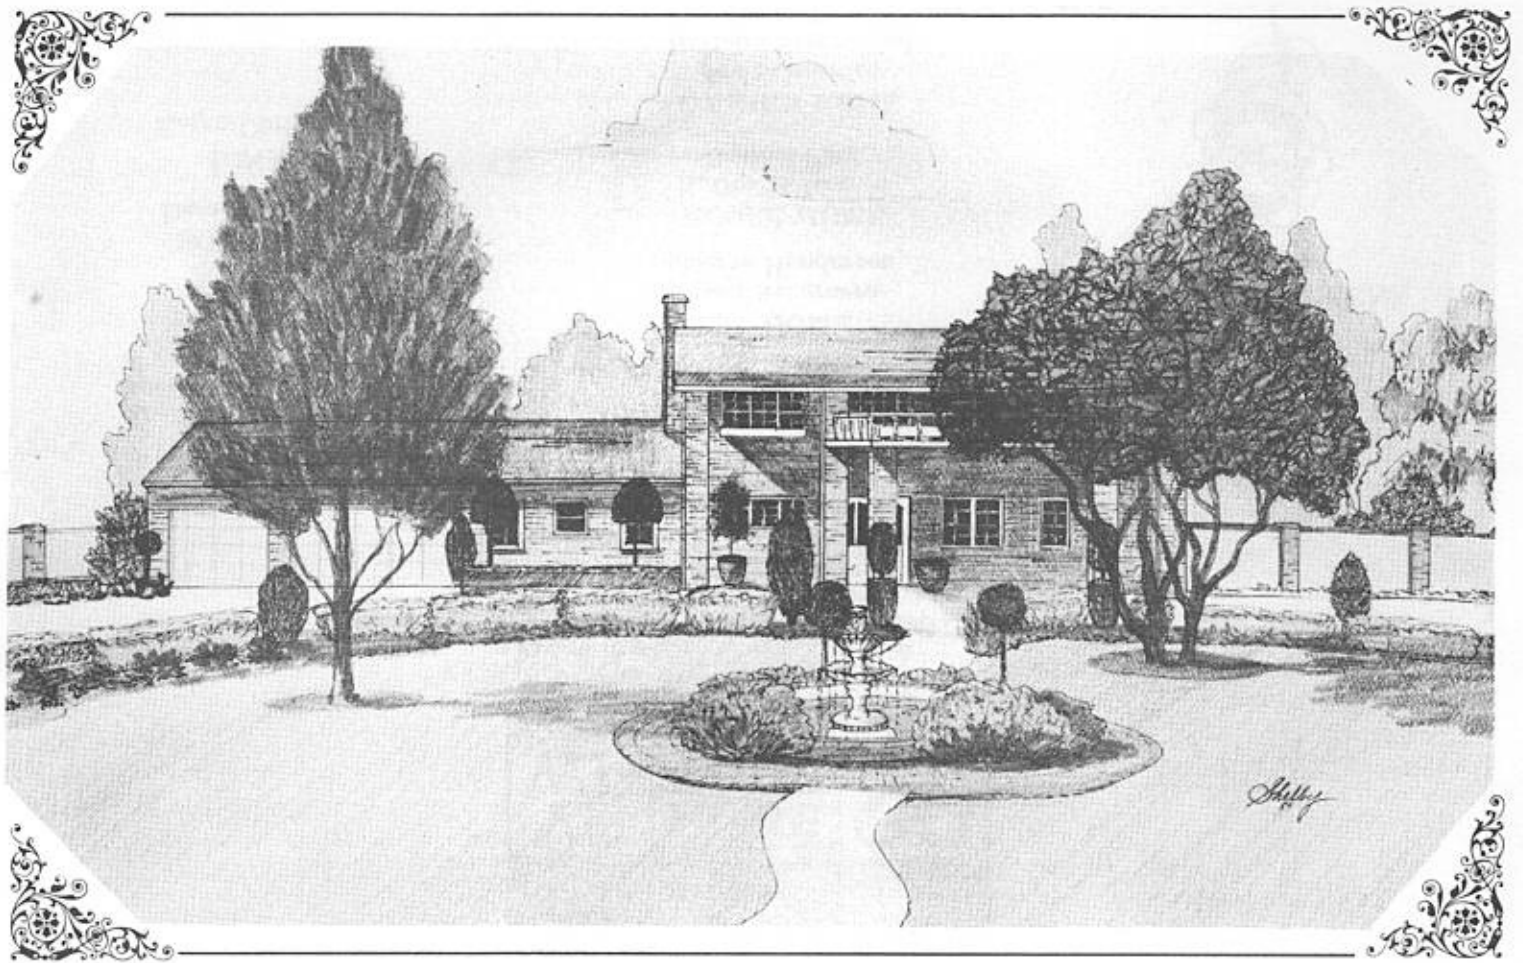

The Andersons have lived in Villa Park for over four years. Dr. Anderson is the Head of the Accounting Department at Cal State Fullerton. His wife, Sue, is very involved with the Serrano Elementary School Board, and is Superintendent of Sunday School at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Orange.

Their family consists of four children - Deborah, 17; Howard, 14; Harry, 10; and Hugh, 9. They share a love of golf and travel.

Villa Park Women's League
presents

April 28, 1989
Friday 10:00 am to 6:00 pm

Sherri and Gary Moore 9381 Loma Street

Visitors from a Villa Park Women's League home tour of the past will recognize this home and yet WON'T recognize this home. It has been fully renovated and redecorated inside the traditional brick colonial exterior. The entire plan and layout for the remodeling was designed by the owners themselves, Sherri and Gary Moore. Inviting the visitor to enter, a gracefully curving circular drive through wrought iron gates in the brick privacy wall sweeps past a formal lawn and garden setting highlighted by a graceful fountain in the center. The interior is now light and airy with French Country and Contemporary styling throughout the house. Shades of mauve and green blend subtly with the quiet neutral color scheme.

Highlighting the livability of the home and adding to its warm charm are five fireplaces which are located in the family room, the master bedroom, the Moore's sons' bedroom, and a double fireplace located between kitchen and the living room. A focal point of the gracious living room is a 150-year-old vase which is of special interest.

The completely new kitchen has innovative finishes such as the slate floor and granite counter tops. Hand painted, custom designed tiles take their theme and colors from the fabrics used in the chairs. The artwork on the wall inspired both the color scheme and the theme of the kitchen decor. The first floor powder room also features a hand painted design on both the sink and the tiles.

The spectacular chandelier which graces the dining room is a favorite item with the Moores and was imported from Italy to enhance the setting. The family room, also a new addition, serves as the perfect "heart" of this home and provides a warm, comfortable center for active family living. The master bedroom has been divided into two rooms with an arched doorway connecting the sitting room and sleeping areas. The children's bedrooms are spacious, specifically designed to accommodate their activities and interests.

Sherri's and Gary's is a romantic story. They were high school sweethearts who have been married for 13 years. Their three boys, Jeff - 10, Scott - 8, and Ryan - 3, share the home, which reflects the activity and the interests of a busy young family. Sherri's hobby is playing bridge, which she enjoys whenever possible, and Gary likes nothing better than a day spent on the golf course.

Sharon and Tom Malloy 9292 Hunting Circle

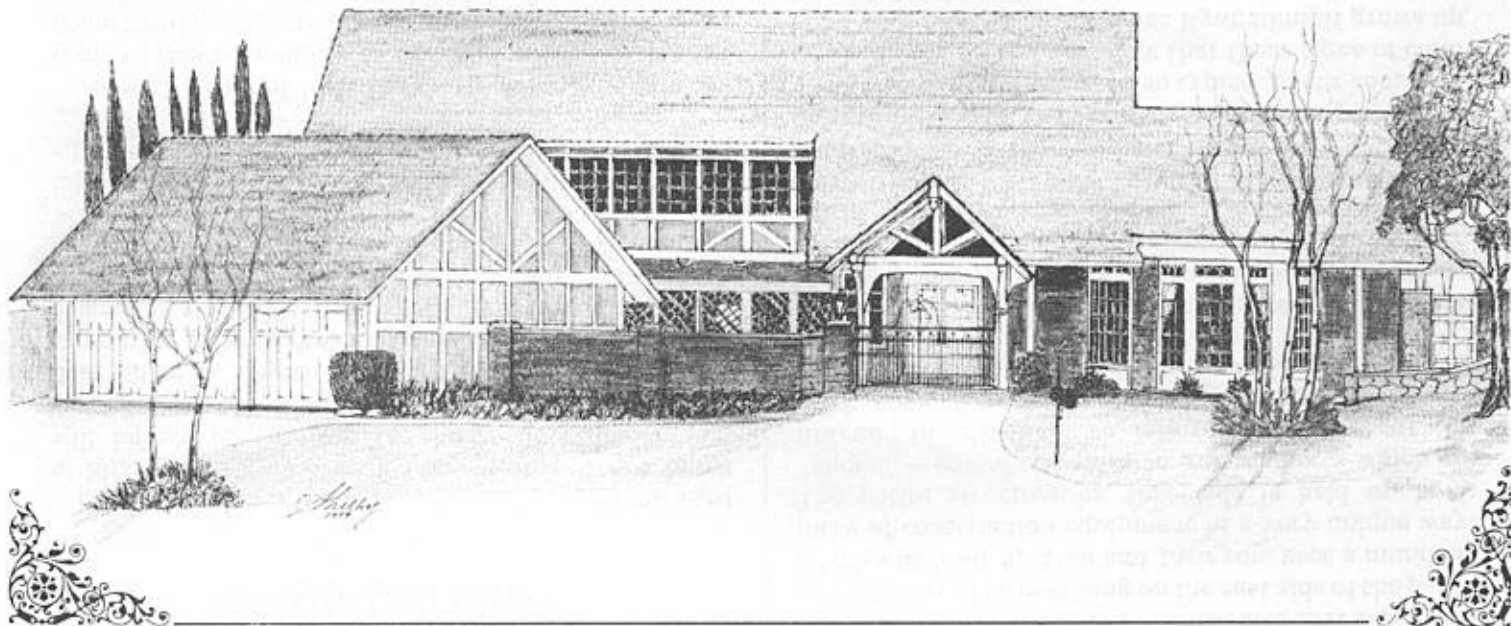

During your tour, relax and enjoy the appealing yard of Sharon and Tom Malloy's house where a box lunch will be served between the hours of 11:00 am and 3:00 pm. Soft breezes drift across the scenic rear yard of their home in a setting which typifies the charm and tranquility of Villa Park and its outdoor family living. These beautifully manicured grounds provide a welcome retreat from the bustling world of Orange County outside Villa Park. Of special sentiment to the Malloy family is the fact that the yard was transformed into an "outdoor chapel" two years ago to serve as the site for their daughter Bridgett's wedding.

As with many of Villa Park's residents, the Malloys came to this community as the original owners of their home nearly 13 years ago. The creation of the present parklike beauty of the yard required a considerable amount of creativity and vision. The pie-shaped lot, which was one of the last in the subdivision to be sold, was essentially an unappealing hill of dirt on the one side and an impractical gully on the other side. Tom, a contractor by profession, was able to visualize the spacious effect you now see, and by moving the bulk of the dirt mound into the ravine, created the yard's versatile and practical layout.

A particular note of interest illustrates that experienced creativity. The overhang on the east side of the patio, which was built by Tom and their son, uses a mundane piece of construction equipment in a very unique way. The entire structure on that side is held up by a "shore" — one of the massive iron supports which are placed in ditches to shore up construction work — which has been painted white and blends into an integral part of the aesthetics of the structure.

Hardy, reliably attractive plantings make this a yard to be enjoyed year round by the active and varied age groups which make up the Malloy family. Bridgett - 27, Kevin - 26, and Kelley - 23 are now grown and "on their own". However, keeping Tom and Sharon company in their absence is the youngest of the clan, 7-year-old Ryan, who continues to put to good use the play equipment which makes the yard so typical of our community. And, lest we feel nostalgic that these signs of childhood may soon be forgotten as Ryan himself grows up, it adds a heartwarming continuity to know that Bridgett, the bride who said "I do" in this very spot, and her husband John are expecting the Malloy's first grandchild in the near future. Modern science has disclosed that the baby is a "he", so it appears that Ryan's swing set won't be empty for long!

Sue and Pat O'Brien 9782 Crestview Circle

High on a hill with a spectacular view, is the country manor of Pat and Sue O'Brien. The O'Briens moved into their home less than one year ago and have accomplished wonders since that time. After living in Villa Park for a few years, they sold their previous home and moved to Cowan Heights but desperately wanted to find the "right home" to bring them back to Villa Park.

This home had been unoccupied for more than a year when Pat and Sue moved into it and began immediately to take it apart. The kitchen was torn down to the studs and the creation of the delightful room which exists today began immediately, with layout by Karen Costello of West Coast Kitchens. Sue is well known throughout Villa Park as a gourmet cook who truly lives up to the title and the kitchen is, quite logically, her first love. The artistic interests of the O'Briens extend even to the tiles in this room, all of which are handpainted.

The interior design of the 5,130 square foot four bedroom home was executed by decorator Bonnie Court and has been planned around the O'Briens extensive collection of art. Paintings and sculptures throughout the house are largely the work of local artists. However, of particular interest are the works of French painter

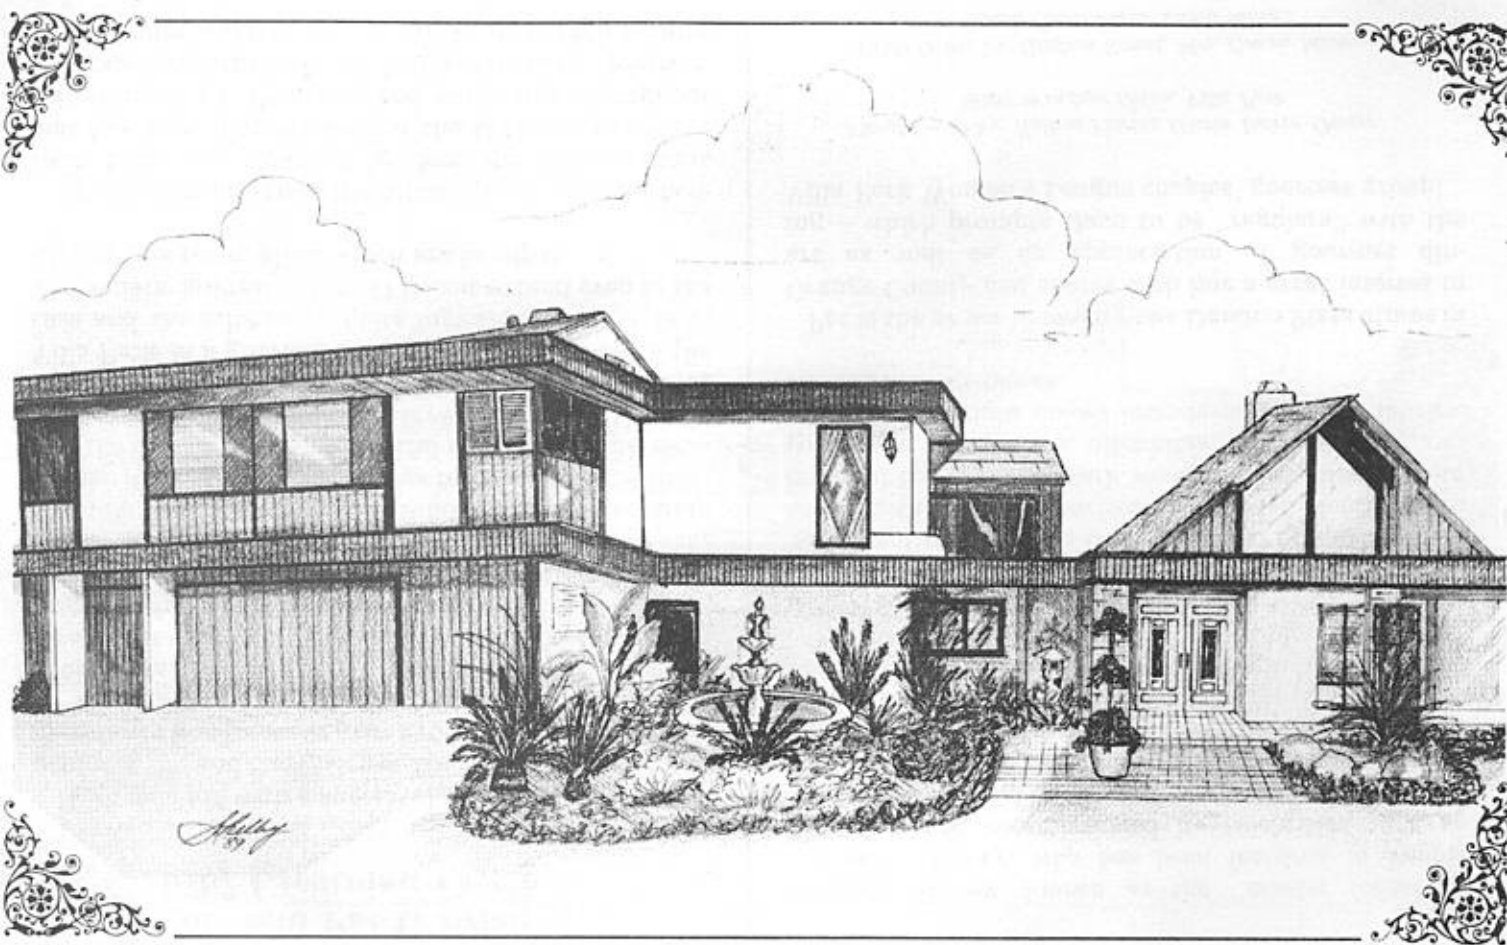

Jacques Harvey, known as the "master forger of Europe". Harvey, who has been featured in People Magazine and commissioned by celebrities such as Johnny Carson and Lucille Ball, created three of the artworks displayed in the home; the Renoir copy in the dining room, the Van Gogh copy in the second floor guest bedroom, and the Dufy copy in the first floor guest room. Each of the works was painted specifically for the O'Briens, and they are beautifully displayed to showcase Harvey's unique artistic talent.

The entire home has been lightened and brightened through the use of bleached and pickled woods which replaced the previous dark wood finishes. Background colors are soft creams, off-whites, peaches, blues and greens with bright colors introduced through fabrics, flowers and art pieces.

Pat is the owner of twenty-one Domino Pizza stores in Orange County and shares with Sue a great interest in art as well as an appreciation of gourmet dining — which prompts them to be "regulars" with the Villa Park Women's League couples' gourmet group!

Cindy and Steve Fry 18811 Ridgeview Circle

Tucked into a slope in the central foothills of Villa Park is the eleven-year-old home of Cindy and Steve Fry. The home was built as a "spec" house but the Frys are the original owners who, with the direction of decorator Joyce Bright, have transformed it into a reflection of their tastes and interests. Throughout the home, soft pastel colors create a light and open feeling, with shades of peach and seafoam predominating.

The two story home contains approximately 4,800 square feet and features a flowing and open room layout ideal for entertaining. Oriented to the entrance at the rear of the floorplan, the gracious foyer features Mexican pavers which add to an overall eclectic traditional flavor of the home.

The focal point of the living room adjacent to the entry is a painting which was purchased by the Frys in Carmel, California. It sets the tone and the color scheme for the room and is integrated into the decor through the custom made sectionals specifically designed to compliment the painting. The colorful floral print is repeated in the window drapings which accent wide white louvers on the side windows.

The spacious dining room offers the perfect setting for the antique mahogany Empire style table and chairs, which have been in Steve's family for many years. The adjoining kitchen has been recently remodeled and enlarged with the addition of an appealing breakfast nook. Also added to the original floor plan is the game room as well as an addition to the master bedroom.

The second floor features a spacious and versatile center for informal entertaining with a corner fireplace, large wet bar and juke box. With two daughters, Lindsay - 13 and Stephanie - 16, the Frys find this room a favorite with the teen-age set. In addition, the adjoining guest suite provides visitors with a virtual "home within a home" setting.

Steve's hobby of gardening is evident in the attractive landscaping which surrounds the home. Tanaka Nursery planned the setting which features a terraced hillside in the rear, graced with fruit trees and berry bushes. A tumbling rock waterfall enhances the Koi pond adjoining the side patio where Steve maintains a sophisticated greenhouse in which he enjoys raising speciality plants and flowers. The eastern side of the lot showcases the outdoor living and entertainment center with swimming pool and spa waterfall. Cindy enjoys various activities within the Villa Park area and will assume the office of president of Assistance League of Orange in June.

Barbara and Bill Carr 17991 Huntington Circle

Step into a truly extraordinary home which is a tribute to contemporary art deco and technology. Bill and Barbara Carr have, in two years time, transformed their home into a reflection of their imagination and vision. They have designed, contracted and decorated the house themselves and have loved every moment. This has indeed been a family effort with Barbara the chief decorator, husband Bill the "design consultant" and adult son Jeff the electrician, whose touch is quite evident throughout the house in the special lighting techniques as well as the comprehensive intercom system.

The house features a basic color scheme of gray, black and white with touches of color to accentuate the lovely art wall hangings, sculptures and the unique design of the furnishings. The Carrs acquired their art pieces at auctions, on trips and from contemporary furniture stores where they also discovered the interesting modern furniture. Abundant stainless steel, as seen in the stairway banister, and chrome add to the flavor, with some pieces being chromed specifically to fit the decor, such as the brass dog in the family room. With a unique ability to visualize and acquire the look she wants, Barbara has employed unusual and interesting techniques such as the use of tiered ceilings throughout the house and the columns at the door to the family room, which are formed from sauna tubes.

Highlights of the living room include the huge smoked glass mirror above the custom made mantle and the infinity wall light to the right of the Grecian marble fireplace. The dining room is a study in mirrors with artwork by Otsuka, "Whispering Butterflies", displayed amid the reflections. The kitchen maintains the contrasting decor with black European modular cabinets, recessed lighting under the upper cabinets and the latest technical advances in food preparation.

The "Charlie Chaplin" room, with leaded glass designed and made by Barbara, seconds as guest bedroom. Displayed here are Bill's old toy collection and his Chaplin memorabilia including a wind-up Charlie which Barbara gave him. The master bath is a dramatic black and white tribute to Barbara's talent which created the spatial effect with tiles from Italy individually purchased and positioned. The skylight adds to the "look" and, as is true of all the baths, the room is served by under cabinet "toe-kick" lighting.

Barbara is a contractor and Senior Building Inspector for the City of Irvine and Bill owns an independent insurance adjusting company.

Roland and Jennifer Weedon
18262 Francisco Drive

Welcome to Jennifer and Roland Weedon's beautiful English country garden! Their front yard was designed to project a park-like feeling. Its manicured lawn, mature trees, unique bench, and colorful flower beds all combine to invite guests to relax and leave their troubles behind.

Their back yard, accented with a large, freestanding covered patio, has two wonderful highlights. One is the unusual fire pit, which is designed to look like a fireplace, and the other is the spectacular pool with a tumbling-rock waterfall and slide. Jennifer says, "We enjoy entertaining, and our back yard was designed for holding large parties, keeping in mind enjoyment for kids and adults. Our rock slide is a smash with kids." What child or adult could resist the rock slide into their sparkling pool on a warm summer day.

This sumptuous garden contains over 100 types and varieties of plants, reflecting the hands-on hard work of both Jennifer and Roland. Camellias are the Weedons' favorites, but they have also planted roses, begonias, sage, daisies, pansies, pittosporum, licorice plants, fringe flowers, hydrangeas, and many others. Many of the plants were chosen specifically to attract butterflies and hummingbirds (Villa Park's official bird!)

Jennifer and Roland, a mortgage broker, have lived in Villa Park for three years, and share their lovely home with their son, Anthony, age two.

*John and Esther Spence
18141 Stratford Circle*

A white picket fence charms the eye and invites you to explore the country garden of John and Esther Spence. From the time he was a child on a farm in Iowa, John was inspired by his grandfather to love plants and enjoy gardening. He has created a peaceful garden incorporating both flowering plants and an extensive vegetable garden which also includes 25 fruit trees.

Following the meandering brick pathways through this beautiful garden takes you under an arching arbor and past bed after bed of blooming perennials. John has included Oriental lilies, day lilies, hydrangeas, and several bushes planted specifically to attract butterflies. Charming garden accents along the way include a bird bath, presided over by a friendly raccoon, and a large variety of birdhouses, which John has hand-crafted. An antique wooden wheelbarrow and a milk can are reminders of John's heritage.

John designed and built the raised vegetable beds across the back of the yard. The vegetable beds are designed in the "French intensive" style; vegetables are planted close together in the beds, and walkways separating the beds make tending them easier. John has also built an area for his tomatoes, with a network of wooden stakes to support the vines. In addition to a large variety of vegetables, John also grows boysenberries and ollalieberries.

Esther and John, who is an engineering consultant, have called Villa Park home for 30 years, and both of their children graduated from Villa Park High School.

Steve and P. J. Bothwell
18301 Churchill Lane

Bright, light and beautiful are the impressions you get upon approaching P. J. and Steve Bothwell's stone-accented home. Further exploration into the back yard reveals an almost magical fairyland of lush vegetation and stepping stones surrounded by greenery, inviting you to explore every beautiful nook and cranny of this serene retreat.

Steve is the family gardener and says, "My father and grandfather were fabulous gardeners who taught me many techniques in building and maintaining a beautiful garden. P. J.'s mom was also a great gardener and influenced my garden ideas." He, along with landscape architects Susan Romiti and Brian Faris, has created a contemporary cottage garden that combines the beauty of lush and meandering lawns with colorful and abundant plantings, accented by canopies of shade trees.

Pennsylvania blue stone has been used throughout the veranda, pool patios, and the spa. Charming accents include two water fountains, a bird bath, picket fences for separate garden areas, a shallow pool with a two-part spa, and two gated arbors. Boston ivy covers the garden walls, and a profusion of flowers fills the many flower beds and standing containers. The Bothwells included a raised vegetable garden area and compost-making equipment, creating a garden that is practical as well as beautiful.

When Steve isn't in the garden, he is busy with his business, which is distributing Elastomeric Sealing products. He and P. J. have lived in Villa Park for nine years and in addition to their other activities keep busy with their two teenagers, Reid and Carly, ages 13 and 14.

Steve and Monique Elliott
18221 James Road

A sparkling white picket fence and arbor, lush ferns and colorful hanging baskets of flowers welcome you to the home of Steve and Monique Elliott. After walking through the foyer and into the back yard, you are greeted by a peaceful two-tiered fountain and a small pond.

Monique's love of flowers has inspired her to create a garden filled with an abundance of spring bulbs and perennials. When the family moved to this home one and a half years ago, the back yard was a blank slate waiting for Monique's creative touch. She has supplied both the creativity and the physical labor in designing and developing a garden highlighted by cobblestone walks and extensive plantings.

The focal point of the back yard is a tranquil retreat created by a cobblestone walk leading under a rose-covered arbor to tree-shaded benches. The benches are in two sizes, adult and child, to accommodate all the members of this growing family. A quaint windmill adds to the serene atmosphere.

The far corner of the yard is devoted to the children and features a charming cottage playhouse with shuttered windows, a tree house with a slide, and swings.

Steve grew up in Villa Park, and he and Monique moved back a year ago to raise their three children, ages two, four, and five. Their oldest child attends Serrano Elementary School. Steve is self-employed, the owner of Dependable Off Road.

*David and Janet Sanderson
18691 Cerro Villa Drive*

Perched high on a hillside with views to Newport and Laguna Beach, the spectacular Mediterranean-style home of the Sandersons is a true delight. Proceed down the flagstone driveway and enter the backyard for your first glimpse of their private retreat encircled by palm trees.

On the right as you enter, you will encounter a unique tortoise run for nine desert tortoises. The breathtaking vanishing-edge pool is the focal point of the entire yard, overlooking a semitropical garden and the views beyond. Janet says that "the garden was inspired by our love of Baja, Mexico, and the luxuriant palms that surround the hotels and casas." Don't miss the mosaics of sea turtles at the edge of the pool, inspired by Janet's love of turtles.

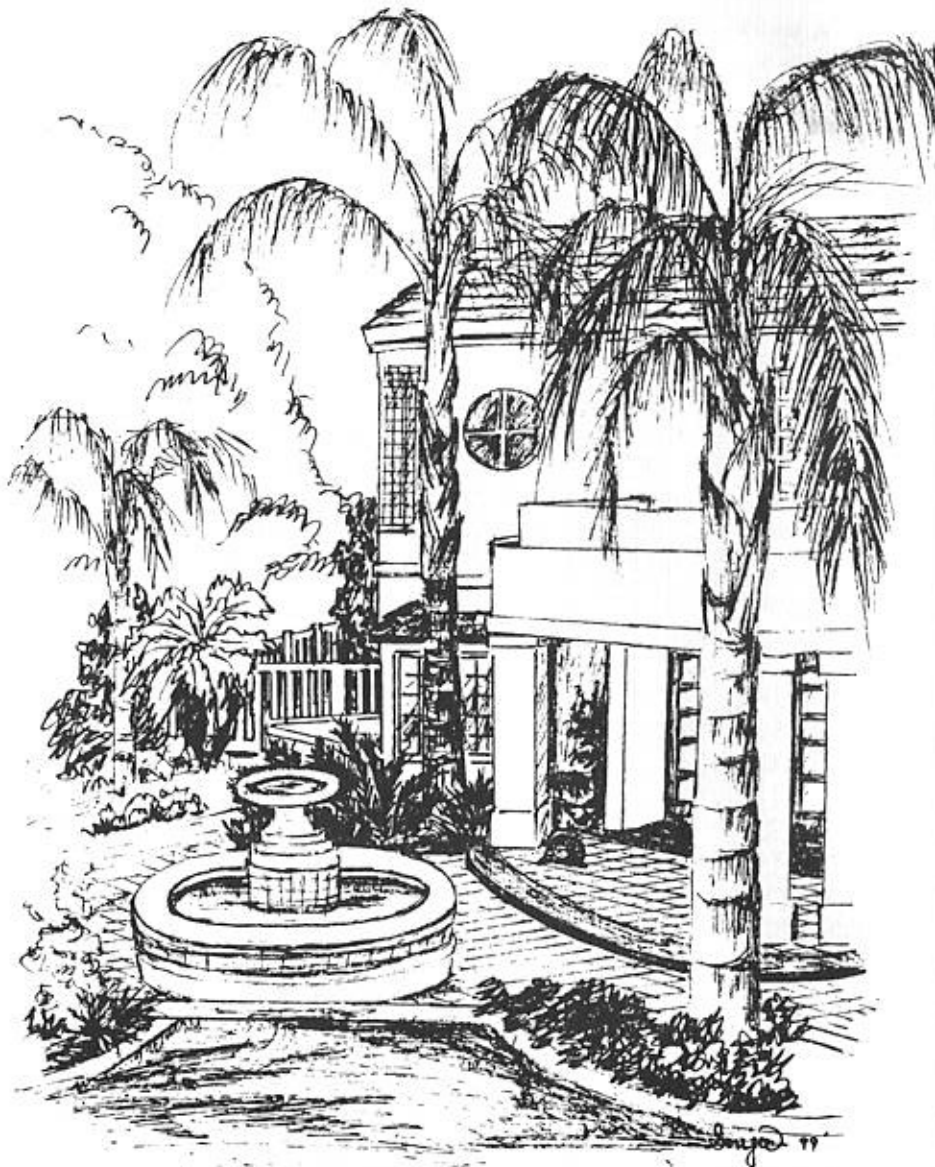

After viewing the patios and the sport court below, you will enter the first floor of this 5,000-square-foot home and the "patriotic" bedroom featuring photos, medals and mementos of Janet's and David's fathers' military careers.

Multicolored Raja slate runs throughout the first floor and up the winding staircase. Granite countertops are used in the custom-designed gourmet kitchen, the family room, and on the outside counters. A 500-gallon salt water aquarium in the family room serves as a creative room divider. Notice the ship's porthole installed as a window at the bar and the retractable television overhead.

Dave is the founder and owner of SKB in Orange, which manufactures guitar cases and other products. The Sanderson children, David, 16, and Steve, 13, attend Villa Park High School and Cerro Villa Middle School. Their daughter, Jennifer, and granddaughter are frequent visitors.

Tasting of Fiesta Flavors

11:00 am - 3:00 pm

Sharon and Tom Malloy

9292 Hunting Circle

As part of your tour, you are invited to enjoy a tasting of fiesta flavors at the home of Sharon and Tom Malloy.

Their charming Tudor-style home is nestled in the woods at the end of a quiet cul-de-sac. The meticulously groomed front yard is beautifully landscaped and dominated by a giant coral tree. All of the design and landscaping of this home has been done by the Malloys, who have lived here for 23 years.

The tasting of fiesta flavors will be served in the Malloys' gorgeous backyard garden, which has an expansive lawn bordered by beautiful trees, including apple and peach. Notice the magnificent eucalyptus, which was on the property at the time the home was constructed.

Directly behind the house is the swimming pool, with nearby filtered shade provided by a freestanding pavilion, which has a slated wood cover and a swing for poolside visitors. An orange tree from the original orchard has been preserved in a circular brick planter.

Adjacent to the kitchen area of the house are the brick outdoor food preparation bars, a sink, and a built-in barbecue, with shade from a lovely ficus benjamina.

The outdoor living area is ideal for both formal and casual entertaining and has been the setting for the weddings of two of the Malloy children. Now their six grandchildren are frequent visitors, enjoying the pool and park-like atmosphere.

Tom is semiretired, having given the management of their equipment rental business to their son. He owns and races old Indy race cars, and Sharon has been active in VPWL for many years. Their son, Ryan, is a junior at Villa Park High School. (Their three grown children have homes of their own.) Sharon and Tom enjoy entertaining and traveling.
