VPWL is cookin' up the season kick-off

"Cooking Up A Friendship" is the theme chosen by Teddy Wells, president of the Villa Park Women's League for the coming day ball at Santa Ana Country Club, chaired by Anne Stephani and the spring garden tour, chaired by Elsie Everett. Teddy will be assisted by will have the opportunity to join the League at this time. They can also explore and sign up for an array of activities, enjoy an inspirational program by Paula Burton and "Celebration USA" and view a slide show of past League activities produced by Kimberly Young. Newcomers will be welcomed to the League by Andrea Hollobaugh and Mary Kuli who have plans for the year ahead.

Rockwells will contribute refreshments and a floral arrangement will be donated by The Flowery to be given to a lucky newcomer. Gourmet cooking classes will be given by the Artful Gourmet.

Membership in the Villa Park Women's League is available to all women of Villa Park. Dues are $25 yearly and this entitles members to participate in all activities of their choice and receive the monthly Villa Voice newsletter. For 30 years, the League has sponsored cultural and educational activities and contributed scholarships and funds for schools, library and many charities as well as social activities. The members of the advisory board join Teddy in issuing a warm invitation to all women residing in Villa Park to join in the fun.

VP Garden tour coming up May 2

The next general meeting of the Villa Park Women's League won't be until April 22 at city hall for elections and to hear Tom Moon, ex-OSS/CIA who'll be sharing tales of female spies with the crowd. The meeting begins at 7 p.m.

It's just nine weeks until May 2 when the Garden Jewels of Villa Park, a garden tour and boutique, will be here. There will be five gardens opened and a partial tour of a home, plus a boutique featuring charming garden gadgets, such as hand crafted yard signs, bird houses, feeders, floral painted clothing, stepping stones, yard art, etc.

Volunteers are still needed. Tickets are $15 in advance and $20 the day of the event. Call Elsie Everett, chairman, at 637-2090 for information and tickets.
